Glassware Range

Each individual piece of our Elemental artistic glassware is hand blown by skilled craftsmen using the same methods practiced for thousands of years.

Coloured glass compounds made from minerals and metals are mixed during the shaping of the molten glass at a temperature above 1,500 degrees. At this stage natural features including colour movement, small bubbles and surface textures come alive - each one completely unique, a piece to be treasured.

Table Linen

High Quality 100% Linen and Egyptian Cotton Tablecloths from our exclusive Italian suppliers. State of the art printing technology makes these colourful tablecloths works of art for any home.

HEMP

Comfortable and resistant, it does not require pesticides, herbicides, and fertilizers. It grows without irrigation with a high yield of extracted fibers per area of land, leaving the soil in excellent conditions for subsequent crops.

LINEN

Fresh and light, elegant and versatile, linen is the most resistant textile fiber in nature. It is resistant to wear and tear and does not lose its shape. Thermo-regulating and hygroscopic, it has excellent moisture absorption properties. Linen is also an example of sustainability since it does not require water for irrigation or fertilizers. TTT uses European Linen, considered the best in the world because of climate, soil availability, the growers' know-how and expertise of the entire production chain.

COTTON
 White, bright and soft, cotton is the most widespread textile fiber in the world. TTT has always selected only the noble qualities of long-staple cotton, resistant and naturally shiny from the best production areas in Egypt and the United States. The most important properties of the cotton we purchase are its long and extremely thin fibers with good elongation and its very high resistance. These criteria are constantly monitored by our teams in terms of product quality and compliance with socially responsible working conditions.

LAUREN DICKENSON CLARKE

This mug features a playful parody design inspired by Michelangelo's infamous masterpiece; THE CREATION OF ADAM. Lauren has penned her own version, but with the irreverent juxtaposition of gender. The feminine hands render this widely recognised meme with an unexpected and stylish twist.

The surreal 'SHOE OF EDEN' design is inspired by the beguiling story of the Garden of Eden. Lauren has captured an alternative ending to the narrative. One in which Adam is devoured by the Serpent and Eve seeks her revenge, by skinning the cunning creature and fashioning it into a boot.

Bizarrely-elegant and steeped in dreams, THE DIVINENESS OF TIME explores musings on the passing of hours. Intangible, unstoppable, never slowing, always moving, discarded by some yet yearned for by others...

This whimsical design is inspired by Lauren's time working in the peculiar world of fashion. 'BEWARE OF THE WEAR TRAP' was an expression used to warn others away from celebutantes who were usually on the prowl for free garments to wear to their next stylish soirée. The bear trap in this illustration symbolises the trappings of fashion and (dare we say it...) narcissism.

LAUREN'S STORY

A celebration of Muses, Misfits & Rebels. An extraordinary range of products crafted through imagination, dedication, dreams & surreal themes, craftsmanship, draughtsmanship & an endless desire to create objects of wonder. Each creation starts is journey as a finely drawn ink illustration and is proudly made in the UK.

Fine Bone China gilded with 22 Carat gold. Made, Mused & Marvelled in England. 10.4cm high x 7.5cm diameter. Due to the exquisite gold rim featured on this piece, it is not suitable for dishwasher or microwave use.
