PINTADA COTTON

White, bright and soft, cotton is the most widespread textile fiber in the world. TTT has always selected only the noble qualities of long-staple cotton, resistant and naturally shiny from the best production areas in Egypt and the United States. The most important properties of the cotton they purchase are its long and extremely thin fibers with good elongation and its very high resistance. These criteria are constantly monitored by their teams in terms of product quality and compliance with socially responsible working conditions.

Fresh and light, elegant and versatile, linen is the most resistant textile fiber in nature. It is resistant to wear and tear and does not lose its shape. Thermo-regulating and hygroscopic, it has excellent moisture absorption properties. Linen is another great example of sustainability since it does not require water for irrigation or fertilizers. TTT uses European Linen, considered the best in the world because of climate, soil availability, the growers' know-how and expertise of the entire production chain.
